The Job Search App That Will Help You Win in 2020

Revolutionary job search app designed from the ground up to serve the needs of the modern jobseeker, one Californian's efforts to fix a broken system. MyJobAngel's Founder and CEO, Lalo Mantilla, said it made no sense that, "people are spending hundreds of hours each month looking for jobs," and through research he discovered that "the systems we currently have in place are getting in the way." An expert at developing applications at a global scale, Mantilla created MyJobAngel to solve the five main problems people encounter when looking for a job online.

In a survey of jobseekers, the main issues they came across were: having to sift through a jumble of irrelevant jobs, seeing the same jobs again and again, having to re-enter the same job search parameters every time, difficulty keeping track of job applications, and seeing jobs from companies they are not interested in.

Many employers actually pay job search sites each time users click on a job posting, so the sites try to show users as many postings as possible. Not MyJobAngel; this app shows users only the best job matches to save them precious time. MyJobAngel also keeps track of every single job the user has seen and shows them each job only once. Additionally, MyJobAngel saves users' job search parameters the very first time they are entered, and allows users to save an unlimited number of job searches. Furthermore, MyJobAngel keeps track of every job the user has applied for, and allows them to write notes on each one. Finally, MyJobAngel allows users to include or exclude specific companies from each of their saved job searches.

MyJobAngel works to save jobseekers time, energy, and sanity by using intelligent rules. In fact, MyJobAngel reduces the time users spend looking for jobs by 50 percent. When a user specifies a distance parameter, MyJobAngel actually measures the driving distance between their starting point and each job found. Only the jobs that match all the search parameters are shown. MyJobAngel also uses specialized logic to filter jobs to more accurately match what the user is looking for. The app learns from searches over time, and continuously improves the quality of matches so results are faster and more accurate each time. Smart caching reduces processing time by 90 percent, allowing users to see initial job results in a few seconds, while MyJobAngel continues to sort through the rest of the matches in the background.

MyJobAngel offers a 14 day free trial and is available for download for iPhone and iPad in the App Store.

MyJobAngel is revolutionizing the job search experience with a mobile application developed purely to serve the needs of the jobseeker. MyJobAngel saves users time, energy, and sanity by saving search parameters the first time they are entered, displaying only the best matches, and filtering out irrelevant and duplicate job postings automatically. The app's powerful logic scours multiple job posting sources to collate the best matches available. Users can track the jobs they have applied to and keep detailed notes, all in one place. Founder and CEO Lalo Mantilla believes in the power of technology to improve every aspect of life. Based in Los Angeles, CA.
